Dizzy Doc Extreme Balloon Art - <http://www.myspace.com/dizzyballoons>

Balloons! ... No were not talking about the round balloon on a string that a child gets from a bank or grocery store. Were not even talking about the little balloon animal doggie that clowns give out at festivals. No...not even close. The Balloon creations that you see when Columbus, Ohio based Dizzy Doc is around are like nothing you have ever witnessed before. Doc uses an assortment of several thousand balloons of many shapes colors and sizes to assemble giant balloon sculpture masterpieces.

We're talking about life sized balloon people dancing with musicians on stage, a giant fish the size of a bus or a sky-blocking space ship with a ballooniculture of George

Clinton surfing over a concert crowd, a 2 story replica of the West Virginia State Capitol building, or a replica of the New River Gorge Bridge spanning the 3rd floor gap over center court at a mall, 20 foot tall monster costumes walking down parade routes, and so much more that you wont believe it unless you see it in person!

Doc grew up in an artistic environment while his family exposed him to several mediums such as sculpture, painting, theater, and carpentry, as well as an aesthetic understanding of life. Sixteen years ago Doc discovered balloons as an art form. He attended a clowning class with a friend and quickly became one of Columbus's most frequently hired clowns. Doc soon dropped the loud clothing and clown makeup to become one of the worlds leading balloon artists. Today, he teams with his peers in the industry on some of the biggest balloon creations ever made. He also entertains at a variety of events including concerts, weddings, trade shows, private events, parties and performs on stage with a Ohio based jam band, Waterband, making balloon art to great music. Doc has traveled the country exposing his unique balloon creations to unsuspecting American folk, leaving a trail of smiles in his wake.
